

CLIMBS OVER FENCE TO QUIT HOSPITAL AFTER 2 OPERATIONS

Roosevelt Patient Vanishes in Night Shirt When Nurse Is Busy.

Wearing only a nightshirt, Godfrey Hardeston, thirty-two years old, a carpenter, of No. 61 East One Hundred and Thirty-seventh street, escaped from Roosevelt Hospital at 2 o'clock this morning. Although two operations had been performed on him since last Saturday morning, one for appendicitis and the other to relieve an ulcerated condition of the stomach, he is believed to have got away by scaling a ten-foot picket fence on the Fifty-eighth street side of the hospital.

While the surgeons were removing his appendix they discovered the ulcerated condition of Hardeston's stomach. He came through the first operation as well as the second yesterday to repair his stomach. At 8 in the afternoon they discovered him walking through a corridor and put a restraining sheet over him.

He seemed quiet last night, and because of the heat the sheet was removed. The nurse was taking temperatures and recording them on a chart early to-day, and when her back was turned for a moment Hardeston slipped out. He was not missed until the nurse reached his cot to take his temperature. It was easy enough for him to get to the yard, as all he had to do was to step from a window, but how he got over the fence in his condition is a puzzle. After a two hours' search of the institution and the grounds, the police of the West Forty-seventh street station were notified, but no trace of the runaway patient has been found.

"Packet" Sale of Silks

25,000 Packets of Silks, Satins, Velvets, etc., for 38c to $3.85 Yard, Regularly 68c to $10 Yard

It looked like a dream come true—that room where the thousands and thousands and thousands of yards of silks for this great sale were waiting to be "packeted."

It seemed as if so much beauty of design and profusion of color just couldn't be—yet—there it was to feel, to hold, to admire—to have for the little prices in this sale.

"These silks," said
the head of the Wanamaker Silk Store, rather proudly, with a sweep of both
arms in the general direction of the heaps and heaps of
silks in the room—
"these silks make the best, largest and most varied collection we have ever gotten together for our annual 'Packet'
Sale.

"There are thousands of dress-
lengths for the coming seasons. This Fall's most-wanted patterns are represented. Also the Winter's needs.

"Indeed, there are many thousands of yards of silks there
that are really a forecast of what next Spring and Summer will call for.

"No matter what a woman may want in silks she will find the kind—foulards, crepe de chine, charmeuse, brocade, messaline, pongee, fleur de soie, satin, taffeta, wash silks, chiffon, velvet—and any other sort you can think of."

What Is a Silk "Packet"?

It is a piece of silk—dress length, waist pattern or short end for trimming—made into a neat packet and labelled accurately as to the kind of silk, its length, its regular value, its present sale price, &c. The fact that these silks are in packets does not mean any vestige of the "cat in the bag" idea. As a matter of fact, the packet may be opened and the material examined just as easily as though there were no packet at all.

The Size of This Packet Sale of Silk is nearly double that of last year. It contains not only the accumulation of short lengths during our past year's enormous business, but also the similar surplus of a large, well known silk concern which is now retiring from retail lines.

Some Examples of the Prices in This Packet Sale

Imported Crepe de Chine imprimé in Martine, Jouy and modern art designs. Value $3.50 to $7.50. Now $1.85.

Imported Satin Broches in navy blue and white, in black and white and in the darker, more exclusive colors for Fall. Value $3.50 to $4.50. Now $1.85.

Matelesse Lyons, suitable for coats and suits. This material has never been sold here for less than $5 yard. Now $1.85.

All Silk Fall Tailleur Materials. These are the smartest we have ever seen, including some satin envers, plain on one side and fancy on the other. Value $4.50 to $8.50. Now $1.85.

Entire Main Aisle and Rotunda.

10,000 Yards at 38c Yard

In Lower Rotunda

68c to $2 Former Prices

Foulards, pongees, voiles, chiffons, tub silks, art prints and plain silks.

The foregoing can give but a glimpse of the scope of the "Packet" Sale of Silks.
All we can now add is the invitation to come and see the silks themselves.
